MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY OF THE DAY.

To Sheep-Farmers and the Public in general.

R. G. Dick's Dazzling & Detergent Soap.

The most remarkable fact ever discovered in England on account of its extraordinary effects, and the cause why it has never been discovered before, is because it has been in the possession of a private family, and kept secret for upwards of one hundred years. To this secret the discoverer has come by accident, and has only made it public because he has found that he could not make a private fortune out of it, as he originally hoped to, the labor of the discovery being too great, and the time required to work it out at a profit, far too long for any individual to wait for the result. The discoverer is now engaged in forming a company, for the purpose of working out the discovery, and has already secured a first class manufactory for the purpose.

The wonderful effects of this soap are truly astonishing, and are well known to the inventor, who has for many years been extensively employed by the Government of England to use it on the Queen's Yachts, and also used for private families, cities and towns from all seasons and lengths, the parcels always arrived with the soap in a perfect state, and the effects of the application of purchasers in England was report them to be truly astonishing. The inventor has in his books as also declared to be unparalleled in this country.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13 1868.

Message for the Great South-ern Railway.

Good news for all. As we ventured to offer in our yesterday morning, we were expressly surprised by a visit in the course of the afternoon interested in the concession, who announced to us that "All was right," and every difficulty had been removed, the contract Pato Betts being ratified, after a few explanations and slight amendments with the consent of both parties.

All the looked so gloomy all day yesterday, that even at ten, pm, the enterprise was almost regarded as lost by the directors of the Company. A few of us however, however, took pleasure, in advanced hour, and the Great Southern Railway was declared free of all obstructions, a little before midnight. As we anticipated, one of the engineers returns to Europe by this packet, but happily, with better news than we had dared to hope for. We cannot say when the works will commence, but we can assure our readers, on official authority, that the nominal alterations indicated will offer not the least difficulty at home, and the Great Southern Railway is already, in some manner, "in full accomplishment."

Pato of joy-bells ought to be rung, for it is a long time since Buenos Ayres has had such glorious intelligence. God speed the Great Southern Railway!

ARGENTINE NEUTRALITY.

For some time past the Flores Revolutionary committee in this city has looked with suspicion upon the conduct of General Flores in the Banda Oriental. The motives which gave rise to this want of confidence in us during a rebel are two first, not having cut enough of throats within a given time, and secondly a conviction that he is fledging about the coast of Uruguay for the sole purpose of coming to terms with Berro. We have felt it our duty, since the very outset of this revolution, to condemn in the strongest manner possible this Flores and his gang To support the Government of the country, which, no matter what may have been its antecedents, is admitted by all parties to be the very best that republic ever had. We regard Flores as an enemy, a firebrand, a filibuster. Smocking note of barbarity have been committed by some of his ruffian officers, but we are pleased to say that General Flores has up to the present carried on this notorious war in a strict military officer; no barbarous acts of cold-blooded butchery and bred home to his soldier has he sacked the houses of either natives or foreigners, and as we have been informed on the very best authority he has paid invariably for everything he has taken.

The revolutionary committee have at issued all this; they are discontented, and according to report are about to send a certain Argentine officer to supersede Flores. There is an old saying, "when rogues fall out, honest people come by their own." In this case it looks as if at present care, and we are not quite clear but that the most advantageous thing for the Montevideen Government would be the immediate departure of this officer for the seat of action, and with an order in his vest pocket from the revolutionary committee to depose Flores. But we are not now considering what would, or would not be, of most advantage to President Berro, We take the question up solely to view with what justice the Montevideans complain of the interferences neutrality of the Argentine Republic. When Flores escaped from here, the National Government protested their inability to stop him, as no proof could be got to apprehend him. Now, however, the Government is convinced that he has returned, but the officer has been called in from the frontier by the revolutionary committee, that he has not absented to send in his resignation as Argentine officer, previous to his leaving for the Banda Oriental, and that the committee have sent him as their leader of the Oriental Rebellion

President Mitre has risk in his power to stop this. He has an opportunity now of proving the sincerity of his neutrality policy, by refusing to give his officer his "pass" The question is, will the President have the decision of character to strike a death-blow to revolutions, and do what justice, honour and strict neutrality require? We watch with interest for the decision of His President. Quibbles and excuses won't do any longer. The men who dare to invade these lands with the declared object of leading a revolution in a neighbouring republic should, and ought to be arrested, and dry President Mitre has long since had ample measures to repress such invasions, if unfit to rule in this country.

PORTABLE RAILWAYS.

Travelling on "shanks mare" is proverbially disagreeable when one has a long journey before him; but modern inventions bring to light means of locomotion at once cheaper and more expeditious than our forefathers ever dreamed of. The Frenchman's experiment on his horse is well known in familiar circles, and at present our diligence proprietors in Buenos Ayres seem equally unfortunate, being left almost wholly without quadrupeds. Meantime Mr. Beare comes to the rescue with his portable railway scheme which obviates the necessity of such immense labour and capital as Mr. Wheelwright is about to invest in the Central Argentine enterprise. The concession has been granted him for introducing Pydell's locomotives, with the exclusive privilege, and a guarantee of 7 per cent. per annum on the capital invested, for 40 years.

A good deal is said in favour of these engines, which are easier to guide than a pair of horses, and may be attached with comparative safety to a mail-coach or a gentleman's carriage, being driven at whatever speed may be required, and easting a mere trifle for coal and oil. Although travelling at half the usual railway velocity, they possess the enormous advantage in exchanges for our unwieldly rumbling and lazy camp conveyances, while, moreover, rendering transport for produce both cheap and abundant. Half a dozen such locomotives would unite each of the camp towns with the capital converting them into so many suburbs. The level nature of the country saves us from those difficulties which prevented the adoption of such improvements in Europe. After a little, their use would become so familiar that most of the Irish carteurs instead of confining of public conveyance would mount their own engine and, with a shrill set out for town.

But let us pull up for a moment, if on please, Mr. Beare There's a orrid 'pantano' right ahead, and if our Pydell be not accustomed to steeplechasing it is hard to think how we are going to keep yander "arroyo" 15 yards wide, with shelving banks 20 feet deep; it is better to go round a morass than stick in it, but we cannot pass ripe without a bridge, eyes though there are no water in it. "Cutting the camp" may be practicable during some months of the year, but when the battles overtop a man on horseback, we must even follow the road. New bullock carts and the like eat up the highways in a fearful manner, and if we suppose a morning steam ride after some heavy showers it is more than probable retreat that the first intimation of our unlucky fate would be the reservation of a gaucho that he had seen a snake-stack peering over ground, and heard a diabolical hissing proceeding from the lower regions.

Yet all the heavy current of business Ayres would suffice to extricate our difficulties by from such a difficulty as this, and nevertheless, our men's minds would involuntarily recur to the days of the "Invisible Pydells," Flor del Oro, Ocho, or Nueves Pesitos, where when occasional wear or tedious delay were the only excuse troops to camp travelling. Until our roads be converted into macadamized causeways, our arrangements to be spanned by Pydell's, and our cabs has by viaducts, we fear these portable railways will remain in nubibus.

If Mr. Beare would try his hand on the Calle Larga of Barracas, we should feel great curiosity to see the "busses" and "carros" of that locality, but we fear he should find himself in a dilemma between the sands of Santa Lucia and the declivity of Horp's hill.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The Chasconus R R is at last over its difficulties. We are happy that the matter has been arranged satisfactorily. One of the engineers was obliged to return by the packet, but we may expect him out soon again with a host of "navvies," to commence the work. We printed a supplement, in order that our foreign reader might know by yesterday's mail the good news

The benefit of the baritone, Mr Bertollini, has been postponed to Friday

The "tribune's review for the packet was only about 8 inches" This shows the importance which the editors attach to such subjects

The rain seems to have gone again. On Monday night we had a good shower, which has been followed with much soft weather, the very best for the camps. The south camps are in a lamentable state for want of rain, and the Diligence offices have placed a tax of one dollar upon each newspaper

Another barbarous murder took place last night in Calle Saipacha. The victim was a German, and the assassin an Italian. It appears that they had been playing cards in a café, close to, and had come disputes which caused a row. The question was about one paper dollar! which should have been paid to the owner of the gaming table. The German left the cafe, and was followed by the italian; they had a lusting match in the street, during which the Italian drew a knife and stabbed the unfortunate German to the heart, whereupon he ran off. For some unaccountable reason he returned, and was immediately apprehended by the neighbours. Assured, the police were sent for.

The French mail left yesterday, taking the agent of Messrs Daly and Betts and one clerk former, Mr P O'Neill, who made his trip to La Paz, Salt rather in flight, and goes to Rio Janeiro for the benefit of his health

None of the native newspapers say one word about the Argentine officer who has come gallanting into town from the South, to head the Oriental Revolution. Not a word of censure Saavedra and President Mitre to stop the whole affair in the bud. Colleagues, give up revolution, and join with us for peace

The committee has reported, as we stated in yesterday's paper, favourably on the floating debt question. This will be a great boon to the inhabitants of the interior and some of our city merchants. Mr Cullen will be rescued from insolvency, and the whole country from repudiation. A large number of orders will of course still remain over unregistered; but as it is notorious that the greatest frauds were committed by some of the clerks of the old National Treasury Office, it is but right and proper that the holders of all these disputed vouchers should prove their title to them.

Foreign bonds and companies shall be the topic at present. We are already started, and some half dozen more are in embryo

Respecting the rumours published in the "Tribune," current in Montevideo, we caution our readers against believing one word of it. We have it from persons just arrived from that place, who state that the greatest confidence is in the Government, and that the friends of Flores are busy trying to bring about an arrangement, which, we believe, only means increased bloodshed

The "Tribune," we remark, is the coming out strong in zoology. In which number of the Argus a long lost event about the Mesatheriums, Mylodons, Glyptodons and Toxodons We suppose, when we've got a menagerie regularly every Sunday. The very best of good feeling, the "Tribune's" correspondent states, exists between the natives and foreigners. A new mill has been built on the river, a little way from the town, and is doing a good business. The new bridge is finished, and a beautiful building: Don Jose Martinez is judge, who, he states, is liked by every one; Juan Antonio Lezica is doing ahead rapidly, and boasting of the greatest importance. We thank our colleague for publishing such interesting and long letter, and hope the next good news from other parts of the camp also. Less politics and more news, colleague

The Chasconus R R. ran over town like wildfire yesterday. Our mail bag contained a letter from a friend on the line Montevideo as an Argentine Liberal!

Passing through the Plaza yesterday, at about the o'clock, we perceived two policemen stretched at full length on the state last asleep; on inquiry by one of the "jarvies," we were informed that this favourite place for policemen to take their siesta. We hope Mr Curtis will look after these sleepy guardians of the peace, have hearty notice of the matter, had it been in the Retiro, or on the Mole road, our right in front of the Palacio, under the Minister's very nose, we have the very winks of the vigilant co k, such drowsy tendencies are unpardonable

Tertulias and dinner parties are very frequent at present: within the last few days they have been unusually numerous The tailors and milliners are in a state of bustle, and we hear state that this is the gayest season they have ever known in Buenos Ayres

The Argentine Government have come again her night. The debate was spirited and some of the members, far from thinking the currency a nuisance, as the Times of today, it was a little more abundant with them

Rosas's old country house, at Palermo, has been sold by the Municipality of Belgrano containing it is within their jurisdiction, against that in Buenos Ayres. The legislature is about to determine which contract has had a good effect yesterday: no fewer than 15 shares were taken by fifteen foreign residents. This is a 39 to 1 at a equal of 4 or 5 miles an hour; and by recent modifications at present running of 10 miles an hour with a light passenger car! I am of opinion that the introduction of such engines would be of an immense advantage to the Provinces of the River Plate In the "Times" of last March, you will find a report of some trial on one of Ayling's Engines which took place in the County of Kent, and proved as completely successful, that the Directors of one of the Australian railways have ordered one to be constructed for some hundred and twenty such miles.

I observe that one of my nose sitter, Sr. Don Juan Rosbish, one of the founder of the diligences in the republic, and for men know the interior of the provinces as well as he does, he having traversed them in every direction, either in his diligences or on horseback; this gentleman has employed some 1,500 horses for 18 months constant work, in the neighbourhood of Barcelona during the 18 months. Dry Grass was never more out of repair, but performed to a duties of the most satisfactory manner. The opinion of such a man, practically acquainted with the matters in question, and aware of the difficulties to be surmounted in those countries, will I think carry more weight, than the opinion of a Senator or even the editorial of the "Standard" itself.

I will not trespass further on your columns than by observing the t yesterday they expressed themselves willing to guarantee the 7 per cent on a fixed sum of £670,000. Negotiations are in consequence resumed, and one of the principal southern land owners (whose voluntarily come forward and offered to sign a bond engaging to pay the interest on £25,000 in case of need the Government signified their readiness to accept the guarantee on £700,000, and I believe there might be the purchase of the line, and all interference as regards the tariff.

The proposal was immediately accepted by the attorneys of the company, and both parties have reason to be well satisfied They have assured that the interests of the country have been regarded by them, and the shareholders in England will be well pleased at the guarantee being established on a fixed sum which will admit of no dispute when the line is made, and further still with the suppression of the two articles in the concession to which conferred on the government the right of taking the line off and purchasing the line when they think proper.

"All's well that ends well" may surely be applied to this undertaking, and now that its long pending vote has been so satisfactorily settled, appears in another column of that we do hope that the company and paper, we refer to a letter from Pato Betts will set to work Estudio de Arcos. The writer seems in earnest to make up for lost time, to be a close observer, and remarks and in the execution of the works upon the policy of the British loan bill upon the country will be found a most efficient check. Gangs of navvies are regularly every Sunday. The very best of good feeling, the "Tribune's" correspondent states, exists between the natives and foreigners. A new mill has been built on the river, a little way from the town, and is doing a good business. The new bridge is finished, and a beautiful building: Don Jose Martinez is judge, who, he states, is liked by every one; Juan Antonio Lezica is doing ahead rapidly, and boasting of the greatest importance. We thank our colleague for publishing such interesting and long letter, and hope the next good news from other parts of the camp also. Less politics and more news, colleague

The Chasconus R R. ran over town like wildfire yesterday. Our mail bag contained a letter from a friend on the line Montevideo as an Argentine Liberal!

Passing through the Plaza yesterday, at about the o'clock, we perceived two policemen stretched at full length on the state last asleep; on inquiry by one of the "jarvies," we were informed that this favourite place for policemen to take their siesta. We hope Mr Curtis will look after these sleepy guardians of the peace, have hearty notice of the matter, had it been in the Retiro, or on the Mole road, our right in front of the Palacio, under the Minister's very nose, we have the very winks of the vigilant co k, such drowsy tendencies are unpardonable

Tertulias and dinner parties are very frequent at present: within the last few days they have been unusually numerous The tailors and milliners are in a state of bustle, and we hear state that this is the gayest season they have ever known in Buenos Ayres

The Argentine Government have come again her night. The debate was spirited and some of the members, far from thinking the currency a nuisance, as the Times of today, it was a little more abundant with them

Rosas's old country house, at Palermo, has been sold by the Municipality of Belgrano containing it is within their jurisdiction, against that in Buenos Ayres. The legislature is about to determine which contract has had a good effect yesterday: no fewer than 15 shares were taken by fifteen foreign residents. This is a 39 to 1 at a equal of 4 or 5 miles an hour; and by recent modifications at present running of 10 miles an hour with a light passenger car! I am of opinion that the introduction of such engines would be of an immense advantage to the Provinces of the River Plate In the "Times" of last March, you will find a report of some trial on one of Ayling's Engines which took place in the County of Kent, and proved as completely successful, that the Directors of one of the Australian railways have ordered one to be constructed for some hundred and twenty such miles.

I observe that one of my nose sitter, Sr. Don Juan Rosbish, one of the founder of the diligences in the republic, and for men know the interior of the provinces as well as he does, he having traversed them in every direction, either in his diligences or on horseback; this gentleman has employed some 1,500 horses for 18 months constant work, in the neighbourhood of Barcelona during the 18 months. Dry Grass was never more out of repair, but performed to a duties of the most satisfactory manner. The opinion of such a man, practically acquainted with the matters in question, and aware of the difficulties to be surmounted in those countries, will I think carry more weight, than the opinion of a Senator or even the editorial of the "Standard" itself.

I will not trespass further on your columns than by observing the t your ness and objection via that these Engines would cut up the roads, destroying every square of property &c, reminds me of the objections raised against Mr. Stephenson's Locomotive by some members of the English House of commons, and which you will find pleasantly narrated in Mr. Smiles life of the Engineer. I do not think any Chickasaw famous, San Juan means of no locust of Tucuman or Mendoza would be much frightened at the Engines cutting up the camp, provided their particulars could be transported at a trifling cost, as they soon see with their own eyes. Besides two countries England and the United States have not universally adopted rails much use, argues nothing against their efficiency it must be remembered that both countries are interested with railways, canals, and navigable streams, and for the purpose wool wools or agricultural purposes, locations Engines would be unnecessary; but where the produce of an hundred weight or more is to be carried, rails are indispensable.

I remain, gentlemen,
FRANK BEARE.

KIRBY'S MURDERER IDENTIFIED.

On Monday the cousin of Kirby and Devere was lodged in the prison of this city. It seems he was traced to Chivicoy, where he offered our countryman Kirby's watch, a gift of Mrs. Kirby, for sale. The detective employed by the Irish farmers of Mercedes succeeded in conveying him to that town, and the prisoner was identified that he had won the watch gambling, and denied all knowledge of the horrid affair of the 9th inst.

The officer and wife was brought into the Cabildo prison, for the purpose of identifying the murderer. All the criminals were brought in, but without the least hesitation one pointed to the ruffian, and further added "the very boots he wears were my husband's" We believe another witness has been found to identify him, and as there is no room for legal quibble we hope the axe of justice may descend upon the wretch very soon, and till the work of a man.

THE PARANA MAILS.

We have dates of the "Paraguarí," 11th inst. M Sauze the famous coach proprietor is at loggerheads with Sr. Saguier, who owns a rival coach and opposition line of well adapted paraphernalia. Colonel Caldeiron writes from Paraguarí that the mail is as it should be. Paysas, four-day runners pass in rebellion, robbing even the churches but until the mail leaves is not known. Colonel Arredondo writes from Corrientes that he is executing order. Colonel Arredondo writes from Corrientes that he is executing order. Colonel Arredondo writes from Corrientes that he is executing order

The first and the only detailed part of it I have collected from the monthly reviews of one of our most exact brokers, Sr. D. Augustin de Castro. What concerns the cattle exported to the port of Montevideo from the Rio Grande I have obtained from my friends there and the rest from the custom house statistics.

I must then beg to call your attention and that of your readers to the following list of exports from the Oriental State during the year 1863:

729,001 dry ox and cow hides, at 4 dols.		$2916-244
617,916 salted do., at 5 dls.		3389-5-0
18091 dry horse hides at 2	226193 0
111479 salted do. at 2	22495 8
117224 bales wools	140 1664,263
1850 bales hair	300 374,0.0
18830 pipes tallow	100 1783,000
1160 do marrow grease	70 102,200
1264 bales sheep skins	200 190,800
741,616 jerked beef	2 320 1779,638
		$11191,386 230
20,000 live oxen for Rio Grande at 10 640		2160,000
6670 tons bones and bone ash at 15		120,050
1010,000 ox and cow horns at $40 pr mil		40400
Sundries specified in the custom house statistics		1870,227 00
		$18395073 300

The imports, according to the said statistics amount to 10189752 600

To which add for low customs valuation; contraband, &c, 30 per cent 3056881 200

The amount of imports would then be 13686337

Leaving a balance in favor of the trade of 4180-736 360

which I believe is as near to truth as possible.

Montevideo, Aug 9th 1863

WAR BETWEEN BOLIVIA AND PERU

President Achá having obtained permission from the Bolivian Chambers to declare war against Peru on account of some fields of Mejillones, has sent an ultimatum by Sr. Pinto to the latter Government. Meantime some Chilian war vessels are stationed at Mejillones and subjects of that republic have been greatly maltreated at Cobija, a Bolivian port on the Pacific.

THE FRENCH IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

The French troops having disembarked a passage through New Granada, the republican government refused, and otherwise managed to force their way en route for Mexico. Meantime the authorities have made preparations for defence, and a strong body of national troops is being equipped.

MINISTERIAL CRISIS IN CHILE.

The Mont-Varista party has a majority in the Chamber, and boldly seeks to expel all the Ministers, subjecting them simply to long and trying interpellations. The Chambers voted a reply to the message of the Executive, an unusual procedure; and it is thought the President must call in new members to form a ministry more suitable to the national feelings.

M. Vicuña MacKenna has been condemned in the minimum penalty for libels at suit of Sor. Bilbao; that involves $26 fine and 10 days' imprisonment, but the prosecutor has remitted the latter penalty.

MISCELANY.

THE ESSEX PENSION CASE—This case, which is somewhat romantic in its nature, and which was before the Court of Chancery in London a few months since, is now occupying the attention of the Irish Court, which is asked by the petition to remove temporary lure to the right of the petitioner—the present Earl—to bring an ej ment on the title for the recovery of the estates bequeathed by the will of Henry Earl of Egmont, dated the 11th December, 1811, to Sir Edward Turner, deceased. The petitioner is the heir at law to the late Earl Henry, and the principal respondent is the husband of the daughter of Sir Edward Turner. The Court was densely crowded on Monday, and his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant occupied a seat on the bench during a considerable part of the day. The cause is likely last some days. The Irish estates, which are in the county of Cork, were at the time of last John's death of the annual value of 9,000 or 10,000l., the selling value being about 250,000l., while the whole of the incumbrances amounted only to 50,000.

The Paron arrive[d] this morning from Rosario, but brought little news of importance. The ten miles of the Cordoba Railway will be completed on Saturday, but the works will not be stopped as the government has ordered their continuation. She brought in specie $17,250 Bolivian, 4,430 ounces, 473 condors, and $4,950 ops.

Produce business is rather dull at present, as people are waiting to see the news by the English packet; wheat is expected in to-morrow.

The Italian barque Lavarello has been chartered for Holfort with 651 hides wool, 1,718 salt hides, 1 0 dry hides, 4 pipes 4 half, do, tallow, and 24,000 staves.

The final settlement of the difficulties of the famous Rivera Grant to Government Military Company was agreed to with the gr.nted solicitation by the magistrates on charges to day. People seemed pleased to think that an unfortunate family, which had been a source of trouble to the country would ultimately be carried out, and or little employment given to it. Some with severity by merchants, having refused, and Judges, to suspend very lately, but a few months order, which had to be filled gave a better hope that Government will grant the direct of President Mitre as regards the Rivera invasion is watched with nervous anxiety by every Governor in town, and no doubt will be carried out, and to fresh invaders leave our shores the revolution will be extinguished before the end of the present month.

It is stated by many that the Government are opposed to the stoppage of the monthly burning of paper money, which they say is quite necessary in the Legislature. We have very serious doubts however on this head, and hope that the Finance Minister will not allow of very long to connect the north and south places with the Northern Railway. To do so now would be very weekly amendment proposed to make the line at once own cost.

Letters for Europe received at the office up to two o'clock on to-morrow (Thursday).
